Letter from Mayor Ceja

Hello Aumsville,
 Sometimes it feels that as soon as September hits, the rest of the year flashes by in one big, jumbled mess.

A season I like to call “HallowThanksMas.” Long gone are the days that each holiday was celebrated separately in their own month. Maybe my perspective has changed from what it was as a child to that of a middle-aged adult. Having lost some of the awe and wonder that comes with the innocence of youth, replaced with the burden of high expectations and anxiety of holiday shopping. With the coming of November and December, my mind shifts from the start of school and the eeriness of Halloween, to family dinners, holiday gifts, how the holidays are ever changing as generations grow, and the lingering impacts COVID-19 has had on everyone, as well as the rising cost of inflation.

Each year I try to donate and volunteer as much as possible. This year I want to focus on food. I was recently shopping, with a shopping list catered to a family with very specific medical needs. That got my mind racing. What does a family or person do when they need help with food, but they have restrictions such as being diabetic, gluten or lactose intolerant, or having an autoimmune disease that is food sensitive? Most food boxes are filled to the rim with processed and GMO items.

This year I will be looking to donate food items catering to people with food restrictions.

With that vein of thought I would like to encourage those that donate or put together food boxes to keep those individuals with dietary restrictions in mind. In the past I have helped with the assembly of culturally correct food boxes and look forward to the challenge of helping those with dietary restrictions. Enclosed is a diabetic gluten-free recipe from my mother.

Employee Spotlight on Steve Oslie– By Ron Harding, City Administrator

The idea of highlighting a city employee is to display our talented staff here at the city. Our work isn't easy, and anyone who has worked in state, county, or city government can attest that the perimeters in which government generally operates are sometimes daunting. We have a great staff, and they seem to excel in many areas compared to what I see other cities accomplish. That doesn't mean we're perfect, but I have a high level of confidence that we are doing good things for the community.

This month's employee spotlight is on Steve Oslie, our Public Works Director. Steve is the longest-serving employee the city has had for over 33 years and, as a result, knows more about the city utility system than anyone else. You may not be aware, but our public works department has a great deal of responsibility within the city. They maintain the parks, streets, street sweeping, the water system, and sewer system; they set up for all the community events and maintain all the facilities. Public works is in charge of all capital projects in the city and have to keep systems maintained. They approve all permits and are responsible for code enforcement.

There are only five public works staff, but they do all of this work year-round, and Steve can manage his team in a way that stays ahead of all of these responsibilities and provides quality services for residents.

Steve always goes above and beyond to help out residents within the confines of the city ordinances. Regardless of whether it is repairing a water main, or going the extra mile to help make one of our community events extra special, Steve and his team are always there behind the scenes, making a lasting difference.

If you see him in the park or around town, please be sure to thank Steve or any of the public works staff for their continued good work.

-Ron Harding, City Administrator

The subject of an outdoor picnic was mentioned several times by AHS members, but it did not get scheduled until September. By that time, Aumsville's summer seemed to have passed. Luckily, the event was held in the community center on Saturday, September 23rd. It began to rain while everyone was enjoying the bountiful indoor picnic.

The descendants of Pioneer William Porter recently held a reunion, which included a visit to the museum. The museum collection includes a great deal of Porter information and many old pictures. In 1848 the Porters and a number of other families began their six-month long journey from Illinois to Oregon. William wrote a very informative trip diary. He and his wife Sarah had four young children. Sarah passed away soon after their arrival. Hers was the first burial in what is now Aumsville Cemetery. Later, William married Sarah's sister Martha and they had three children.

William received a Donation Land Grant southeast of present day Aumsville. He soon built a structure, which was used as a school during the week and as a church on Sunday. He served as the teacher and the minister. He was also Chief Clerk of the First Territorial Assembly, which was held in Oregon City in 1849. The Porter descendants have a proud heritage.

The museum is now displaying a 1933-era Wesson Mayonnaise Maker. The tall glass has straight sides and a metal plunger. The glass is embossed with the recipe. It was marketed directly to the customer for 65 cents plus 16 cents in postage.

AHS will meet on Thursday, November 9th in the community center at 6:30 pm. Snacks will be available before the meeting. The 2023 museum season ended on October 28. To make an appointment to visit, please phone Ted Shepard at 503-749-1744.

Aumsville Rural Fire District

Aumsville Fire District has a new Chief!

Rob Garrison has been hired as Aumsville Fire District's new fire Chief. Rob was born in Portland but grew up in east Salem. Rob has 31 years' experience in the fire service starting as a volunteer firefighter in 1992 at Marion County Fire District #1. While there he helped develop and was a Lieutenant on the District's Technical Rescue program. For the last 20 years Rob has been working for Portland Fire and Rescue. He was hired as a firefighter and has held many positions over the years including Fire Inspector, Fire Investigator and Vice President of the firefighter's union.

In 2016 Rob moved to the area buying a home in Shaw where he lives with Theresa, his wife of 28 years. In 2017 Rob joined the Aumsville fire district as a board of directors' member and was President of the board for the last 3 years. Aumsville is a small rural fire district that consists of both paid and volunteer staff. Rob's 31 years of experience as both a volunteer and paid firefighter make him well qualified to lead a small combination department like Aumsville.

Rob said "I look forward to this new chapter in my career and will strive to provide the best fire service to our community".

When he is not working, Rob likes hunting, fishing and camping. He is also a classic car enthusiast and can be seen driving his '67 GTO and attending car shows when the weather is nice!

Watch Facebook for details on the upcoming Turkey Shoot, November 18th at 7pm in the Fire Hall.

Cascade Feedback—Oct. 2023

What makes you proud of our Cascade schools? What improvements could make our schools even better?

This year, we really want to hear from our entire Cascade community (students, families, staff, and residents) about our schools. What do you love? How can we make it better?

These anonymous ThoughtExchange questions let you share your thoughts and rate the thoughts of others on a scale of 1 to 5. If someone says something you really agree with, rate it with a 5! If you see something that you don't find as helpful, give it a 1.

There are a couple of simple questions so we can know what your connection is to Cascade first, then you can give as many thoughts as you like. Make each one simple and specific, and then add more thoughts!

-Gregg Koskela
Cascade School District
